BUSINESS STATISTICS

Students in the Business Statistics unit were set the task of trying to estimate the total weight of a bag of 100 lollies.

To start they had to take a sample of 5 lollies, use the weight of those 5 to estimate the total weight. They then took a larger sample of 10 lollies to try and improve their estimate. The pair that managed to guess the actual weight won the entire bag, which they then got to share with the class.

Well done everyone!
